A Note from Kennedy Inn of Court – Team 4

The practice of law is rarely confined to a single forum. Civil litigation, criminal exposure, public perception, and ethical obligations often collide—sometimes subtly, sometimes spectacularly.

The Real Housewives of Granite Bay explores what happens when those collisions are mishandled. Through satire, music, and exaggerated personalities, this presentation highlights real ethical dilemmas faced by attorneys navigating parallel proceedings, client misconduct, settlement pressures, and resource constraints.

While the characters and circumstances are heightened for theatrical effect, the ethical rules, risks, and consequences are very real. We invite you to enjoy the performance—and to reflect on where advocacy ends and obligation begins.
